Busy Day for Beaverhead County First Responders Includes Multiple Fires and River Rescue

Jeremy Crawford, Southwestern Montana News

Thursday proved to be a busy day for first responders across Beaverhead County as emergency crews responded to multiple incidents, including two vehicle fires and a river rescue.

The day began Thursday morning when firefighters were dispatched to Ten Mile Road for an engine fire. Crews quickly responded and worked to bring the fire under control.

Later in the day, emergency personnel were called to Browns Bridge on the Big Hole River after receiving reports of a capsized boat. Details on the number of occupants and whether there were any injuries have not yet been released.

First responders were then dispatched to a vehicle fire on Interstate 15 southbound near mile marker 36. According to information from the scene, a pickup truck towing a camp trailer suffered an engine compartment fire. The driver was able to safely pull the vehicle onto the shoulder before the flames intensified.

Firefighters worked to extinguish the burning truck, but the fire spread into the dry grass along the interstate. Due to the growing grass fire, additional resources were requested from the Dillon Volunteer Fire Department and the U.S. Forest Service to help contain the blaze and prevent it from spreading further.

The extent of the damage and the causes of the incidents remain under investigation.

Attorney General's Office charges Hill County man with deliberate homicide

Prosecutors in the Montana Attorney General's Office charged a Hill County man with one count of deliberate homicide in the case of a 2019 murder on the Rocky Boy Indian Reservation, Attorney General Austin Knudsen announced today.

James Richard Michael Lowrance, 35, a resident of Hill County, was charged with the murder of William Bernard Hobbins. In September 2019, a Rocky Boy Police Officer heard gun shots while on duty. When he arrived on scene, he found William Hobbins lying on the ground with multiple gunshot wounds.

The same day of the shooting, Lowrance told investigators he and Hobbins left a party together and that Hobbins eventually jumped out of the car before Hobbins threatened to hit Lowrance with a rock if he did not leave. Lowrance said he left Hobbins in the road. Multiple interviews were conducted with witnesses who were with Hobbins and Lowrance prior to the shooting. They all said the two were partying and had been fighting before the last time they were seen together.

Investigators searched Lowrance's car where they found a receipt for .357 Magnum ammunition and recovered a fired cartridge casing that matched four other casings at the scene. It was later determined that all five cases were fired from the same gun.

In October 2019, investigators interviewed Lowrance where he denied killing Hobbins. However, he admitted to buying ammunition for the pistol in Great Falls.

In March 2026, a Montana Division of Criminal Investigation Agent interviewed a man who says he sold a Taurus .357 revolver to Lowrance 12 days before the shooting.

The prosecution of this case is led by Assistant Attorney General Thorin Geist. The investigation was conducted by the Montana Department of Justice's Criminal Investigation and Forensic Science divisions, the Federal Bureau of Investigations, the Rocky Boy Police Department, and the Hill County Sheriff's Office.

State Auditor James Brown Announces Program Incentivizing Multi-Level Marketing Companies in Montana to File Notices

Montana State Auditor and Commissioner of Securities and Insurance James Brown launched a new, short-term program incentivizing multi-level marketing companies (MLMs) operating unlawfully in the state to file required notices and pay reduced fines.

MLMs distribute products or services through a network of participants, often encouraging participants to recruit friends, colleagues, or family members to sell the product or service as well. More than 1,000 MLMs operate in the United States. MLMs transact in a wide variety of goods and services, including cosmetics, home goods, nutrition supplements, pre-paid debit cards, and cryptocurrency.

Under the Montana Securities Act, MLMs are required to file an initial and annual notices with the Auditor's office to lawfully transact business in the state.

The new program gives unlawfully operating MLMs the chance to come forward and file an initial notice within 30 days of being notified by the Auditor's office to receive a reduced fine of $1,500. MLMs that did not receive a notice from the agency can receive the reduced fine if they voluntarily come forward before August 31, 2026.

According to the most recent available data from 2022, approximately 14.6 million people in the United States participated in MLMs. As part of the filing process, MLMs must provide the Auditor's office with information about how they operate to confirm that: 1) they are not illegal pyramid promotional schemes and 2) they have policies and procedures to protect Montanans who are recruited to participate.

The Auditor's office will publish the list of MLMs that have properly filed notices or are members of the Direct Selling Association, which is exempt from the filing requirements. The list will be published on the agency's website, https://csimt.gov/registered_mlms/.

Mussel-fouled boat decontaminated at Anaconda inspection station

Catastrophe averted.

The exceptional skills of inspectors at the Anaconda boat check station stopped an invasive mussel fouled wake boat from Minnesota earlier this week from potentially introducing zebra mussels into Montana waters.

The boat, which was on its way to Georgetown Lake, was transporting hundreds of zebra mussels, some attached to the boat and some attached to pieces of Eurasian watermilfoil, another invasive species, on the trailer. The boat also had ballast tanks, which never completely drain, making them a good environment for transporting mussels.

Because the boat had only been out of the water for four days, inspectors suspected that the mussels were still viable. Mussels can survive up to 30 days out of the water.

"Boats like this can ruin Montana's waters forever," said Tom Woolf, FWP's aquatic invasive species (AIS) bureau chief. "This is the boat that would introduce mussels."

The boater was unaware that he was transporting mussels. After the inspectors decontaminated the boat, it was locked to the trailer and FWP wardens responded to ensure it would not launch.

As a reminder, all watercraft entering Montana are required to be inspected for aquatic invasive species. You must obtain an inspection before launching on Montana waters. Stop at all open inspections stations you encounter. Find inspections stations here

Boats with a ballast or bladder, such as wakeboard or wake-surfing boats, that intend to launch on Montana waters must be decontaminated before launching.

While planning your trip to Montana, if you find you will not encounter a watercraft inspection station on your way to your destination, Idaho, Wyoming, and Alberta inspection stations fulfill the before-launch requirements of Montana.

Stop at ALL open inspection stations you encounter in Montana where your watercraft may be re-inspected.

Always remember to clean, drain and dry.
