Montana Western Football Promotes Tristin Rodriguez to Assistant Coach

UMW Football has promoted Tristin Rodriguez to a full-time assistant coach, head coach Ryan Nourse announced Tuesday. Rodriguez will be the wide receivers coach for the Bulldogs in 2026.

"Tristin has familiarity with the program, serving as an exceptional student coach for us for three years," Nourse said. "He has a strong desire to make college football coaching his profession. Tristin has a ton of energy, a strong work ethic, and a football coaches mind. We are excited to have him on board in a much larger role as our wide receivers coach."

Rodriguez has been a student coach for the Bulldogs over the past three seasons. He served as a running backs coach in that time.

Prior to joining the coaching staff, he played baseball at Dawson Community College for two seasons.

Rodriguez graduated from Western in May with a degree in modern history and systems of thought.

Thursday event at Museum
A Night Remembering Dan and GeRayne Block

Zachary Block and his father Bryan will be at The Depot Theater on Thursday, July 9th discussing the life and times of Dr. Daniel Block (Grandpa and Dan to them). When Zach returned to the Flathead Valley with his family he was going through boxes of his grandfather's belonging when he encountered a manila envelope that he recognized. Inside he discovered decades of his grandfather's writings which included a completed manuscript of the days his grandparents lived 70 miles up the North Fork of the Flathead River. Six miles from the U.S.-Canada border where he and his young bride, GeRayne homesteaded near Trail Creek after World War II. After looking at the manuscript Zach realized that his grandfather's reflections on the North Fork needed to be shared and started working toward getting the book published. As a retired University of Montana Western biology professor, Dan Block documented his life at the homestead.

The memoir is dedicated to GeRayne and while telling their story it pays tribute to her as well. She worked as the youngest postmistress in the North Fork. Another one of her duties was to hold the flashlight for her husband while he shot packrats in the cabin with a .22 rifle in the middle of the night. They fished for bull trout, hunted elk and survived grizzly bear encounters.

Zach said this: "My grandpa had a big life and to see that he was the same person he was at 26 as he was at 96 as he sharpened through the years — he was the same guy. He had the same ambitions. He wanted to strike into the unknown while being respectful to his surroundings. I think when somebody sits down to put their thoughts on paper, they obviously want it shared," he said. "It's had a pretty emotional impact on my family and it's had an impact on my friends and people who didn't know him. I assume he'd be thrilled. Admitting there was "nothing tragic" about his grandparents' lives up the North Fork, there is a somber tone in the memoir could potentially be attributed to the loss of wilderness that new generations won't get to see. The book serves as a reminder to balance an authentic life with adventure and exploration. The Trail Creek homestead remains in the Block family, looking almost the same as it did when it was built 80 years ago, with the original floor and handcrafted fireplace, serving as a time capsule Dan and GeRayne's North Fork legacy.

Daniel Block was born in Wisconsin Rapids at the age of four his family moved to Milwaukee. He attended Milwaukee State Teachers College for four years. When WW II began he enlisted in the Eighth Air Force on January 7, 1942. Upon discharge in the fall of 1945 he married Gerane Johnson, moved to Montana and enrolled at the University of Montana. He earned two degrees in Wildlife Technology, and then returned in 1970 to earn his doctorate. He first taught high school for six years on the Flathead Indian Reservation and then was a professor of biological science from 1961 until 1985 at the University of Montana-Western when he retired. At the July 1994 Board of Regents meeting the regents authorized the University of Montana-Western to name the Office Classroom building the "Daniel G. Block Hall." "He was brilliant, diligent, and absolutely consistent, and his students received his very best every day," said the official proclamation.

This evening is sponsored by The Bookstore and The Beaverhead County Museum. Doors will open at 6:00 with event beginning at 6:30. The presentation is free to the public but donations to the Museum will be accepted at the door. Following the presentation there will be a book signing and reception with light refreshments. If you have any questions or would like to reserve a book please call 406-683-6807.

Dillon Cubs Drop Pair of Close Games to Gallatin Outlaws in Three Forks

Jeremy Crawford, Southwestern Montana News

The Dillon Cubs came up short in both games of a Tuesday night doubleheader against the Gallatin Outlaws, falling 4-0 in the opener before dropping a heartbreaking 5-4 decision in the nightcap on a walk-off hit-by-pitch.

Gallatin Outlaws 4, Dillon Cubs 0

The Gallatin Outlaws struck first in the opening inning when Lucas Petersen singled to drive in the game's first run before extending their lead in the second.

Jaxson Iddings delivered an RBI single to the right side of the infield, and Petersen later drew a bases-loaded walk to make it 3-0. The Outlaws added another run and held the Cubs scoreless the rest of the way.

Sawyer Tackett took the loss for Dillon despite a solid outing, pitching 3 $\frac{2}{3}$ innings while allowing four runs, only two of them earned. Tackett struck out seven batters and surrendered five hits while walking five.

Andrew Bartlome paced the Cubs offensively with two hits in three at-bats.

Gallatin Outlaws 5, Dillon Cubs 4

The second game proved to be a dramatic back-and-forth contest that wasn't decided until the final play.

Trailing after three innings, Dillon mounted an impressive comeback. The Cubs chipped away with a run on an error before Sawyer Tackett blasted a game-tying home run to left field in the top of the seventh, knotting the score at 4-4.

Unfortunately for Dillon, the Outlaws answered in the bottom half of the inning. The Outlaws jumped out early with two runs on a wild pitch in the first inning and added two more in the third on RBI singles by Lucas Petersen and Scotty LeMay.

Sawyer Marx earned the complete-game victory for Gallatin, allowing four hits and four runs, all unearned, while striking out two.

Ben Peacock was charged with the loss in relief after pitching 2 $\frac{1}{3}$ innings. He allowed one run without giving up a hit, struck out two, and walked three. Trenton Moreni started for the Cubs, striking out nine over four innings while allowing four runs, three earned.

Tackett led the Dillon offense by going 2-for-4 with three RBIs, highlighted by his game-tying homer in the seventh inning. The Cubs also turned one double play defensively.

The Dillon Cubs will look to bounce back on Thursday when they travel to face the Lewis-Clark Twins.

1st Annual Dillon Days Songwriter Contest

The first annual Dillon Days Songwriter Contest was held on the 4th of July. Five contestants each drew a song title from a hat and had 24 hours to write a song, then perform that song for hundreds of folks in attendance. The contest was presented by singer, songwriter, TJ Casey and the judges were Corine Welborn, Golda Vaughn and fellow songwriter, producer Stan Smith, all of Dillon.

The 3rd place was Phil Page with his song, "Saddle Tramp."

2nd place: Sharaya Payne with "That Feller's Kinda Punchy"

1st place: Carly Cloud with "Cock Eye'd Cow". Each were awarded a special edition belt buckle from Montana Silversmiths. The event was sponsored by The Dillon Community Foundation. The contest is a great addition to the Dillon Days events and plans are for the event to become an annual part of the celebration.

Veteran's Corner Update #571

By Mike Lawson

Veteran News Updates:

• The last 3 week-ends have seen me attend three Veteran Organization Conventions in Montana, starting with the DAV Convention at Big Sky, followed by the Marine Corps League Convention in Great Falls and the American Legion Convention this week-end in Helena. These conventions were informative, with Veteran issues talked about and how we can support change where change is needed. One observation made, was how old many of us are getting. More younger veterans need to be in place as we older members leave our posts. I did observe at all of the conventions, some new younger faces. We really have to be careful we don't put too much on their shoulders or we'll lose them.

• The Veteran's experiencing homelessness are encouraged to call 877-424-3838. The homeless numbers are down compared to last year but have a long way to go in getting homeless vets off the streets, treated and prepared to reenter society.

• If you served in the military, you've earned VA Health Care. Enrollment is free and a Veteran can do it online. The benefit is the unlocking of a lifetime of access to VA medical centers and many medical treatment options. It's important to notify anyone who has recently been discharged or ready to be discharged, to enroll within 5 years from separation from active duty. Who qualifies is as follows; (1) Reserves and Guard who completed their full call-up period and or 10 federal activations (2) Combat Veterans after 9/11 get 5 years of free VA healthcare after separation, regardless of disability (3) OTH and bad-paper discharges need to request a Character of Discharge determination. Check for more comprehensive information at va.gov/health-care/ apply. Have your DD-214 handy. Call 1-877-222-VETS (8387). Walk into any VA medical center or CBOC and get help from the enrollment coordinator. It's important to get your friend or loved one, discharging from the service, enrolled as it means a lifetime of medical care.
