Montana Western Track and Field Adds Stevie Ruelas as Assistant Coach

The Montana Western track and field team brought on Stevie Ruelas as an assistant coach, head coach Taylor Grove announced Tuesday.

"I am excited to have Stevie joining our coaching staff," Grove said. "He brings good experience having coached at a top-level program in the NAIA. I think he will bring a lot of energy and enthusiasm to our sprints, jumps, and hurdles group and help raise the bar for the athletes on our team."

Ruelas comes to Western after serving as a graduate assistant for the Dickinson State track and field team. In his time at DSU he oversaw the sprint and hurdle athletes and assisted with jumps.

The Tuscon, Ariz., native helped lead the Blue Hawks women's team to a NAIA National Runner-Up finish in 2026 and aided the men's team to its first conference title in eight years.

He also coached the three-time women's high jump national champion as well as 11 conference champions in his tenure with Dickinson State.

Ruelas earned his undergrad and graduate degrees from DSU. He graduated with a bachelor's in exercise science and a master's in sports administration.

Green Beans~

Plentiful producers in the garden and versatile in the kitchen. Green beans are loaded with fiber and protein, plus vitamins A, C and K, along with manganese, a key mineral for your bones, cartilage and connective tissues. They're also a low FODMAP food, so many people with IBS, or other chronic digestive issues can usually enjoy them without any negative side effects. Green beans can be eaten raw straight from the garden, sautéed, or blanched and frozen and added to soups and stews later in the season. They're easy to grow in bush or pole varieties and a welcome addition to any garden.

Ben Snipes '05

During his career from 2001–2004, Ben Snipes established himself as one of the Bulldog football program's most accomplished student-athletes. A two-time Frontier Conference Champion (2002, 2004), Snipes was a two-time First Team All-Frontier Conference selection (2003, 2004), a two-time team captain (2003, 2004), and a two-time NAIA All-American Honorable Mention (2003, 2004). In 2004, he was recognized as the Montana Chapter College Football Hall of Fame Scholar-Athlete of the Year, highlighting his excellence both on the field and in the classroom.

Some of Snipes' favorite Bulldog memories include Montana Western's 2002 victory over Carroll College in Helena to clinch a share of the Frontier Conference Championship and earn a playoff berth, as well as competing in the NAIA playoffs. He credits coaches Tommy Lee and Keith Handlos, along with teammates Josh Shrum, Craig LeCoure, Nick Rewerts, Mike Schmidt, Dallas Mock, Cole Van Heel, Eric Stoverud, and Nick Prinzing, for making his Bulldog experience unforgettable.

After earning his Bachelor of Science in Business from Montana Western in 2005, Snipes received his Juris Doctor from the University of Montana and returned to Great Falls to begin practicing law. He is a founding partner at Kovacich, Snipes, Johnson and has established himself as one of Montana's most respected trial attorneys. His many professional honors include being named Montana Trial Lawyer of the Year in 2019 and 2023, recognition in The Best Lawyers in America since 2024, selection to Super Lawyers since 2018, inclusion among the Top 500 Lawyers in America by Law Dragon, and being named the 2027 Top Plaintiffs' Attorney in Montana by Best Lawyers. He also serves as Montana's State Delegate to the American Association for Justice.

Beyond his legal career, Snipes is deeply committed to serving his community. He serves on the UM-Western Foundation Board of Directors, is President of the West Side Little League, and founded the Great Falls Youth Tackle Football League. Above all, he is most proud of his family, his wife, Tori, and their three children, Jack, Elizabeth, and Calvin.

Brandon Brown '12

A standout on the Montana Western men's basketball team from 2009–2012, Brandon Brown helped lead the Bulldogs to three consecutive NAIA National Tournament appearances while establishing himself as one of the most accomplished players in program history. His success at Montana Western launched a basketball career that would take him around the world.

During his three-year career, Brown helped the Bulldogs advance to the NAIA National Tournament Sweet 16 in both 2009–10 and 2011–12 and was a key member of the Frontier Conference championship team. Individually, he earned Frontier Conference Player of the Year honors twice, was named a First Team NAIA All-American, and earned NAIA All-Tournament Team recognition. He finished his career as the second-leading scorer in Montana Western history.

Beyond the awards and records, Brown's favorite memories come from the time spent with his teammates and coaches. Playing in the NAIA National Tournaments remains among his favorite memory. He is also grateful to have been a part of a group that helped build the foundation and culture for the continued success of Montana Western basketball.

After earning his business degree from Montana Western in 2012, Brown began a professional basketball career that spanned 13 years. The game took him to Australia, South America, and throughout Europe, allowing him to compete internationally while experiencing different cultures along the way.

Today, Brown and his wife, Amanda, live in Washington with their three children, Luka, Lincoln, and Leylah. He is the founder of PNW Legacy Sports, where he serves as a player representative and consultant, helping athletes navigate their collegiate and professional careers by drawing on the experiences that began during his time as a Bulldog.

DCI arrests man for aggravated sex trafficking

The Montana Department of Justice's Division of Criminal Investigation (DCI) arrested a man for soliciting sex from women at homeless outreaches and shelters in Billings and the surrounding area, Attorney General Austin Knudsen announced today.

Roy Scott Reid was arrested and charged with one count of aggravated sex trafficking after he admitted to soliciting commercial sex from females at local homeless shelters on multiple occasions. In June, a DCI agent witnessed Reid picking up a known trafficking victim from St. Vincent de Paul, a nonprofit serving the homeless population in Billings, in a white Chevy Equinox with Wyoming plates. He had also been spotted on multiple occasions after that around St. Vincent de Paul and the Montana Rescue Mission (MRM), a homeless shelter in Billings. At the time, there was not enough evidence to arrest and charge Reid.

On August 12, DCI human trafficking agents were doing community outreach at MRM, when MRM staff brought up concerns regarding a man driving a white Chevy Equinox - the same vehicle DCI had spotted in the area picking up women. Then on August 13, MRM staff contacted DCI to let them know Reid's vehicle was in the area. DCI worked with the Yellowstone County Sheriff's Office and Billings Police Department to conduct a traffic stop and arrest Reid. The Yellowstone County Attorney's Office is prosecuting the case.

In 2025, Department of Justice agents worked 64 human trafficking-related cases in Montana and opened 21 investigations that have been or will be submitted for prosecution. Of those 21 cases, 11 were sex trafficking, six were labor trafficking, two were human smuggling, and two were illicit massage businesses.

Crews Contain 12.5-acre Wildfire Near Ennis

Jeremy Crawford, Southwestern Montana News

Several residences were evacuated as firefighters worked to protect properties in the Dry Creek Trail area.

Firefighters contained a wildland fire that burned an estimated 12.5 acres near the Dry Creek Trail area Tuesday evening.

The Madison Valley Rural Fire Department responded to the reported fire Aug. 18. Arriving crews found an active wildfire and immediately began suppression efforts while protecting nearby residences.

Several homes were evacuated as a precaution while firefighters worked to bring the fire under control. No injuries were reported.

Because of the fire's size and location, assistance was requested from several neighboring agencies.

Firefighters worked throughout the evening to establish access, contain the fire, protect properties and extinguish remaining hot spots. Crews remained at the scene late into the night, and equipment was left in the area for continued monitoring and mop-up operations.

The cause of the fire was not provided.

9 Responding agencies assisted with the incident.

The Madison Valley Rural Fire Department thanked the agencies, firefighters, first responders, landowners and community members who helped contain the fire safely.

Full-service excavation & gravel company delivering comprehensive solutions, including streams and waterways, site preparation, grading, drainage systems, and land clearing.
 Committed to precision, efficiency, and quality workmanship for both residential and commercial projects.
