Aug. 18 Fire Briefing: Crews Gain Ground
on Sand Creek and Bobcat Lakes Fires,
Prepare for Warmer Days AheadJeremy Crawford, Southwestern Montana News*

Firefighters are making significant progress on the Sand Creek and Bobcat Lakes fires following several days of cooler temperatures and rain, but officials cautioned Tuesday evening that both incidents remain active and will require continued management into the fall.

During an Aug. 18 online community update, Northern Rockies Complex Incident Management Team 3 said recent moisture has allowed crews to move closer to the fires, construct direct containment line and begin removing equipment from areas considered secure.

The Sand Creek Fire was most recently mapped at 31,652 acres and 1% containment, while the Bobcat Lakes Fire was estimated at 9,791 acres and 19% contained. Nearly 700 firefighters and support personnel continue working across the two incidents.

Officials said the improving conditions are also allowing some residents to return home. However, the Pioneer Mountains Scenic Byway and designated areas of the Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest remain closed.

One of the most significant developments is taking place on the southern side of the Sand Creek Fire between Old Tim Creek and Maverick Mountain.

Crews have been working directly along the fire's edge from two directions. Firefighters moved uphill from the Old Tim Creek area while two additional crews worked down Maverick Ridge from the top of the ski area.

Operations officials said the crews expected to meet completing that connection would secure a large section of fire line and protect valuable timber and grazing land south of the fire. Crews are preparing another direct suppression operation along a steep, roughly mile-and-a-half section of the Sand Creek Fire with more than 2,200 feet of elevation change.

Crews continue point-protection work around the Price Mine and greater Price Creek area. In the Coolidge area, firefighters have been working to protect the historic Tyro House.

Firefighters completed protection work around a historic cabin in the Bear Creek area Monday.

Josh Shrum '06

Josh Shrum '06 built an impressive career with Montana Western football from 2001–2004, helping the Bulldogs capture two Frontier Conference co-championships while earning numerous individual honors along the way. Shrum earned First Team All-Conference honors as both a running back and kick returner in 2003 and 2004. He was also named a First Team All-American kick returner in 2003 and earned Third Team All-American honors as an athlete in 2004.

Shrum's career also earned him a place in the Montana Western record books. In 2003, he scored four touchdowns in a single game, finished the season with 110 points and 18 touchdowns, and averaged 32.4 yards per kick return. He finished his Western career with 31 touchdowns and served as team captain during his senior season.

Some of Shrum's favorite memories came from memorable road victories, including wins over Carroll College in 2002 and 2004 and a 2003 win over Whitworth during its homecoming game in Spokane. He also remembers a 2002 game against Montana Tech that ended with Craig LaCourre delivering a big hit along the Western sideline. For Shrum, those games and friendships he formed with teammates and coaches remain some of his favorite memories from his time at Montana Western.

After earning his Bachelor of Science in Business Administration from Montana Western in 2006, Shrum built a career as an independent contractor in the oil and gas industry, specializing in title, mineral, and lease brokerage. He and his wife, Lacey, have four children and enjoy watching them grow up and participate in sports. The family also enjoys returning to Idaho and Montana to spend time outdoors and with family.

Kevin Engellant '91

Kevin Engellant is a 1991 graduate of Western Montana College, where he earned a Bachelor's degree in Secondary Education with a Business Education major and Math Education major, as well as a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration. He later earned a Master of Education from the University of Montana in 1994 and a Doctorate in Curriculum and Instruction in 2014.

Engellant served as head coach of the Montana Western Lady Bulldogs from 1996 to 2009, compiling an impressive 269-142 overall record in 13 seasons. Under his leadership, the Bulldogs captured three conference championships and four conference tournament titles while making eight consecutive appearances at the NAIA National Tournament. A three-time Frontier Conference Coach of the Year and Women's Basketball Coaches Association Regional Coach of the Year, Engellant coached 37 All-Conference selections, eight All-Americans, 67 Academic All-Conference honorees, and 26 Academic All-Americans.

Among the most memorable moments of his coaching career were Montana Western's 1999-2000 conference championship victory over undefeated and top-ranked Lewis-Clark State on Alison Burlingame's buzzer-beating half-court shot, which secured the program's first-ever NAIA National Tournament appearance, and the Bulldogs' historic 80-73 victory over defending Big Sky Conference champion Idaho State University during the 2001-02 season.

Following his coaching career, Engellant joined Montana Western's Business & Technology Department as a professor and continues to serve the University as Faculty Athletic Representative. He has remained actively involved in athletics as a member of the Montana Officials Association, officiating football and basketball, and serves as the Montana State Director for the Elks Hoop Shoot program.

Kevin and his wife, Roxanne, reside in Dillon, where they enjoy spending time with their children and grandchildren.
